SKINNY DIP CUT SHORT

Three-year-old Terry Lynn Schneider, a little boy who believes in the chamber of commerce slogan "Four Seasons Playground," took a dip in Okanagan Lake Friday, without benefit of a bathing suit or clothes! She didn't fall in either. She did a strip act on the beach near Gyo Park and walked in up to her shoulders. Terry is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald

Schneider. They live in a trailer court near the beach. Terry saw a raft drifting by the beach and decided she wanted it. She was spotted in the lake by her six-year-old brother who ran for his grandfather, Clayton Moen. She was rescued despite a protest. The end result is a hot foot bath, a warm towel, and a brick rubdown. (Courier photo)

Hopes Rise That Dock Strike In U.S. May Soon Be Settled

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Approval of a new contract by dockworkers in New Orleans, the second largest U.S. port, spurred hopes today the costly strike might end early next week. The two big New Orleans locals of the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association gave overwhelming endorsement in voting Friday. Clarence A. Henry, president of one local, predicted the walk-out would end Monday or Tuesday. I.L.A. members at Mobile, Ala., then voted to end the strike, now in its 20th day.

Negotiations in Philadelphia will resume today. No vote was expected in Baltimore, Md., until Monday. Under I.L.A. policy, the strike cannot end until settlements are reached in all Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports. The first break in the walk-out of 60,000 dockworkers came when New York longshoremen ratified the new contract last week. The New York agreement served as the pattern for the New Orleans settlement, which provides for an 80-cent an hour increase in wages and fringe benefits spread over a four-year period.

Two More Ranger Spacecraft To Be Launched At Moon Soon

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Two more Ranger spacecraft are to be launched soon with electronic eyes sharpened for clues to a key scientific question: Is the moon safe for the manned landings planned in this decade? Controversy over interpretation of the 4,316 pictures Ranger 7 televised as it plunged to the lunar surface last July 31 has split authorities into three camps — those who say yes, those who say no and those who say maybe.

Three of the six cameras on Ranger 8, scheduled to be launched in mid-February, and hurried aloft on a three-day on-the-spot follow Ranger 9 have been modified to take sharper, brighter pictures in hopes of learning whether the moon's surface is hard enough for a man to walk on, or so soft that even a large landing craft would be engulfed. The other three cameras were left unchanged for comparison with Ranger 7's performance.

OTTAWA SCANDAL PROBE 'RESTS' AFTER 19 DAYS OF HEARINGS

MONTREAL (CP) — Guy Rouleau, natty, 41-year-old Liberal MP who resigned Nov. 24 as Prime Minister Pearson's parliamentary secretary, has a 10-day break before re-entering the witness box at the Dorion inquiry Feb. 9 at Ottawa. The inquiry into allegations of attempted bribery and influence-peddling in high places in Ottawa is adjourned until that date after a week of testimony by Mr. Rouleau, Raymond Denis, accused of making the bribe offer, and nine other witnesses. A total of 35 witnesses now have appeared at the 19 days of hearings and the end is far from in sight. Some witnesses will be recalled and new ones will be summoned. One of the witnesses—murder suspect Robert Giguac, 35—likely will be charged with perjury. Chief Justice Frederic Doherty, who heads the inquiry, said parts of Giguac's testimony—he didn't specify them—will be transmitted to Quebec Attorney-General Claude Wagner so that a perjury charge may be laid. Giguac is already charged with capital murder as the Sept. 17 gangland slaying of a nightclub doorman here.

Quebec Tories Say Caucus Just A Dief "Smokescreen"

QUEBEC (CP) — Leon Balcer, a Conservative party caucus Progressive Conservative, said Friday night the recently announced party caucus was only a "smoke screen" set up by Opposition Leader Diefenbaker to avoid a confrontation with party members on the leadership question. Mr. Balcer, interviewed in the Quebec City suburb of Beauport, said "the caucus called by Mr. Diefenbaker is nothing but a smoke screen... to save face and try to avoid a true confrontation with members and representatives of the party on a national level, at a national nomination meeting."

Mr. Diefenbaker announced that a Conservative party caucus would be held in Ottawa Feb. 11 and 12 to discuss party strategy. Mr. Balcer, member of Parliament for Trois-Rivières, Que., said, "we often hold caucuses, but they have no authority to decide on the question of leadership of the Conservative party and are limited to the study of strategy to be used during House debates."

Dupuis To Give Explanation When Parliament Opens Feb. 16

MONTREAL (CP) — Yvon Dupuis, Liberal member of Parliament for St. Jean-Berville-Napierville who left the federal cabinet last week under circumstances not explained by Prime Minister Pearson, said today he will give his version of the case Feb. 16 when Parliament resumes.

In a letter to House of Commons Speaker Alan Macnaughton, he says that will be "the first chance which will be afforded me to explain to the House the reasons which motivated my resignation as minister without portfolio."

Mr. Dupuis, who has been unavailable for interviews with reporters who have sought him at his home in St. Jean, Que., since his departure, gave a copy of the letter to The Canadian Press in Montreal. The letter is dated St. Jean, Jan. 2. In a letter to the prime minister before resigning, made public since the resignation, Mr. Dupuis said he had learned there was a rumor "that I could be involved in a scandalous affair concerning a proposed race-track at St. Luc in St. Jean County."

South Viet Nam Buddhists Now Riding On Crest Of Power Wave

SAIGON (AP) — Exuding confidence after playing a major role in the downfall of three governments, South Viet Nam's militant Buddhists appeared today to be riding on a new crest of power. Reliable sources said the Buddhists have made it clear they want the United States to refrain from interfering in their political affairs.

The warning was reported to have come from Thich Tri Quang, 42, a popular monk who met Friday with strongman Lt.-Gen. Nguyen Khanh. Tri Quang led the eight-day Buddhist hunger strike in Saigon that helped force out Premier Tran Van Huong in a bloodless military coup. U.S. officials were reported fearful that the Buddhists would continue to play a militant political role and try to bring down future governments if their demands are not met.

Rescue Team Seeks 2 Men

GLACE BAY, N.S. (CP) — Rescue workers are slowly digging their way toward two men who disappeared in a coal and rock fall early today, about 2½ miles beneath surface workings of Dominion Coal Company's No. 26 colliery here. A company spokesman said a "major fall" occurred at 4 a.m. "at six north wall on the arch deep," which extends under the ocean. About 40 men were at work in the area of the fall and several reported seeing the two men disappear.

Missing are Malcolm White, 27, of Glace Bay and Joseph Oliver, 41, of Reservoir Mines, N.S. Both are maintenance men and part of a crew of 18 who were preparing six north wall for the start of the next shift due to start at 7 a.m. The spokesman said "it will be some hours before it can be determined whether the men are dead or alive." No one else was involved in the fall. About 40 rescue workers, the maximum number able to work in the confined space of the slope, are underground. The missing miners were drawing chocks, wood pillars used to support the mine roof, when the fall occurred. "Drawing" refers to removing the wood cribbing and moving it farther along the mine face.

Union Fortune In 'Dead' Bank

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The United Auto Workers union said Friday night it had invested $3,000,000 with the defunct Sun Francisco National Bank. A UAW statement in Detroit said the union is studying "ways and means of protecting" its $3,000,000 worth of certificates of deposit at the bank. The union declined to elaborate. Under the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, accounts are insured up to $10,000. The FDIC has announced all larger depositors and stockholders will divide money left after insured accounts are paid off. In another development, a new suit — for $1,250,000 — was filed against the bank, which closed a week ago when the U.S. Comptroller of currency declared it insolvent.

Churchill Travels On Final Voyage

World Prays In Memory

LONDON (CP) — As Sir Winston Churchill's body was borne on its last journey through the streets of London today, nations around the world paused to pay tribute. Flags were lowered to half-staff in countries as far apart as South Korea and the West African republic of Gabon. Millions on the European continent watched the London ceremonies on television during a four-hour European linkup. In Moscow, Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorn attended a memorial service for Churchill in the British Embassy. About 300 diplomats and their wives attended the service in a room overlooking the Kremlin.

Governor Sir David Trench of the British Crown colony of Hong Kong eulogized Churchill this way: "Soldier, journalist, adventurer, historian, social reformer, statesman, artist, an orator, writer, painter and above all, leader of men... A man of all parts, complex and many-sided, yet one whose simplicity was half his grandeur." Elsewhere in Hong Kong, soccer players were blacked out and observed a minute's silence before the start of each game in honor of Sir Winston. Even in war-torn South Vietnam, flags were ordered to fly at half staff on all government buildings.

Flooding Rivers Play Havoc In Oregon, Washington States

LA GRANDE, Ore. (AP) — The Grande Ronde River lapped into La Grande today, despite desperate efforts to strengthen an embankment which protects this town of 9,000. Flooding also created misery elsewhere in Washington, Idaho and Oregon. At Randle, in the Cascade Mountains of Washington, an earthslide crashed into the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Mullin, killing them both. They were about 70.

In Oregon the Cazadero Dam on the Clackamas River crumbled and a three-foot wave swept down the stream toward Portland. But it dissipated without causing serious damage. Hundreds were isolated or homeless in north central Idaho where Lapwai, Mission and Sweetwater Creeks foamed over their banks. The villages of Sweetwater and Culecass were flooded and many buildings were either destroyed or damaged.

Only a month ago the worst flooding in the area's history swept through much the same area. The same combination of warm temperatures and heavy rains melted the mountain snowpack and sent the rivers rampaging. Governor Mark Hatfield of Oregon said about 200 families had been evacuated from their homes in various parts of the state.

Bells Toll Out Over Meadows To Blenheim Palace Birthplace

BLADON, England (Reuters) — A coffin as it disappeared into the soil. No one but the family, the parish, the gravediggers and the coffin bearers was allowed to draw near. To watchers at a distance, the mourner were only silhouettes. The atmosphere in this tiny place of winding lanes and clustered stone houses was strangely moving. A muffled peal from the church tower sounded over the meadows to Blenheim Palace a mile away, where Churchill was born 90 years and 61 days ago. Churchill's grave, just behind those of his parents, Lord Randolph Churchill and American beauty Jennie Jerome, lay in a plot surrounded by a heavy, children dropped earth on the rusty chain.

Cemetery Certainly To Be Shrine For Pilgrims In Peaceful Village

The churchyard, certain to become a shrine for Britain's greatest citizen of the century, holds 300 graves. On Churchill's right hand as he lay in his last place were the graves of two humble villagers, Montague Beechley, who died at 63 in 1891 and his wife Charlotte, who joined him 12 years later. The train arrived at Long Handborough station, two miles from Bladon, at 3.32 p.m. Loving hands removed the coffin from the train and carried it up a black wooden ramp straddling the platform. It was placed in a hearse at the platform exit for the two-mile journey to Bladon village and SVT, Martin's Churchyard for the burial service, attended only by the family and close friends.

Last Stage Of Journey By Hearse To English Country Graveyard

Eight soldiers of the Queen's Own Royal Hussars, wearing dark blue cavalry cloaks, carried the coffin from the hearse to the graveside where two local clergymen, Rev. John E. James and Rev. Anthony J. Fern, conducted the plain burial service. The graveside ceremony took 13 minutes. Lady Churchill stood alone by the grave, motionless for a few moments, then turned away as the spades began to shovel earth on the coffin. The rest of the family passed one by one before the head of the grave, each bowing. At the end of the ceremony the widow, leaning heavily on the arm of one of her daughters, Mary, left the churchyard. Among the mourners at the graveside was Lord Moran, Churchill's physician and old friend, who tended him through his last illness, the stroke to which he succumbed Jan. 24. The sleepy Oxfordshire hamlet was virtually sealed off from the world by 1,000 policemen several hours before the funeral train arrived. The press and public were barred from the churchyard.

Newspapers, news agencies and magazines poured in squads of extra staffers. Despite the influx, only 100 press seats were available in St. Paul's Cathedral for the service. About 1,000 press applications were rejected. The duke is eighth in line of succession to the throne. He and the duchess married in 1905. They were on their way home to their country mansion, Blenheim Manor in Northamptonshire, from the funeral when the accident occurred near an intersection about 55 miles north of London. There were no immediate details of the accident. (See also Page 11.)

Lesage to Wait and See On Pension Plan Decision

Premier Jean Lesage said Friday Quebec's pension legislation will be introduced as soon as he knows how it may be affected by Ontario's entry into the federal plan. "It would be unreasonable to present the bill until I know what conditions Ontario will put forth for its adherence to the federal plan," he told the legislative assembly.

Best Way To Eliminate Kinks Along Alaska Highway Sought

OTTAWA (CP)—A study to determine the best way to take the kinks, twists and steep grades out of the Alaska Highway is nearing completion, the annual meeting of the Canadian Institute of Surveying was told today.

A. W. Walker, assistant chief engineer of Spartan Air Services Limited, Ottawa, told the meeting the project has progressed to the point where relocation of bad sections of the 1,200-mile highway now is being considered. He described this phase as a preliminary road design study.

The relocation study is being conducted by the development engineering section of the federal works department. Spartan Air services received a contract to provide the photographs, maps and information on the structure of the terrain required for the study.

The aim of the study is to determine what sections of the road should be relocated to provide a straighter and shorter highway and reduce maintenance costs.

ENGINEERING FEAT
Mr. Walker said the highway, built as a military necessity during the Second World War, the last 35 years he had staged many well known shows.

External Affairs Minister Martin said Friday that Canada has no military training agreement with Indonesia and there are no Indonesian cadets training in this country. He said in a statement: "I have seen press reports indicating there are Indonesian cadets in this country under some Canadian military training program. These reports are entirely without foundation."

U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk was unable to attend the funeral of Sir Winston Churchill today. Rusk, resting at his London hotel, had a cold and was running a slight temperature. His doctor forbade his attendance at the ceremony.

Fred Kasher, 57, former Soviet first deputy premier, died in Moscow today, the Soviet news agency Tass reported.

Five trophies will be awarded for dances: six for free skating and one for the most artistic performance.

Winners automatically enter for the Okanagan Mainline figure skating competitions in December 1965.

The competitions will be held from 12 noon to 2 p.m. Feb. 7 and from 8:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. Feb. 14. The public is invited to attend the competitions in the Memorial Arena. There will be no admission charge.

Comfortable Pew's Author "Not Qualified For Task"

A recent book entitled, "The Comfortable Pew," has in the past few days become the focus of attention by the press, radio and television. It is the religious news of the hour here in Canada, creating a storm of controversy pro and con as to its contents and its author, both of which have been highly acclaimed as well as highly condemned.

It has not been my personal privilege to either read the book or meet its author. However the general tone, attitude, and concept of both has certainly been made clear to any who endeavor to keep abreast of the times in which we live. In a television interview last Sunday night the author of this controversial book made it unmistakably clear that he denies personally:

1) The existence of the being of one true God, the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ. 2) The deity of Jesus Christ, His Virgin Birth, His vicarious sufferings and His bodily resurrection from the dead.

3) The authority and authenticity of the holy scriptures as divine and complete revelation on all matters that pertain to life, godliness, and eternity. These are the basic fundamentals of Christianity and though we may be born and raised in true Christian environment, yet to reject these is to make us nothing more than a society of cultured and educated heathens and pagans. To be Christian means to stand for these unalterable factors, and if we are not Christian then we are pagans, "ever learning" in these days of higher criticism, but "never able to come to the knowledge of truth."

Why this book "The Comfortable Pew" and that by a man who though very qualified in many ways, yet by his own admission is not qualified by spiritual entities to discern, know, and understand, the subject matter. Do we ask the garbage collector to write a just, honest, critical appraisal of the work, scope, and role of the Canadian Medical Association? Certainly not! And yet in type some say this is what has been done. But the question we should ask ourselves is this, "Was this author really outside the camp?"

As far as the physical organization of the subject matter, yes; but in attitude, concept, philosophy and experience could it have been that he was still "one of the boys"? Does this act itself reflect the sad state of deterioration in spiritual leadership, in the pulpits of our land which under God have been entrusted with, and are to be "Oracles of Truth", declaring and defending that Truth without fear and favor and at any cost. Has compromise appeasement, popularity and acceptability been substituted for "contending for the faith" once delivered unto the Church of Jesus Christ, by the Lord Himself. This we are guilty of! The pulpits of our land in ever increasing numbers are attacking and destroying the very fundamentals of Christianity, and we have as a result "The Comfortable Pew"—a shocking status within organized Christianity, a product of our own making, the mirror of the pulpit, a society of religious, refined sinners, encumbered with ritual but void of reality; giving lip service but no heart experience; living in a world of fantasy, but eyes closed to responsibility.

Every minister of the pulpit should take to heart the words of General Booth, founder of the Salvation Army when he said "We must be on guard for the grave dangers that face us in having religion without the Holy Spirit, Christianity without Christ, a system without the Saviour; forgiveness without repentance; politics without God, and Heaven without Hell."

This is without doubt the pit into which the religious world has fallen, and no less a person than Jesus Christ Himself said, "That a house divided against itself will fall." It is true "chickens will come home to roost." There will be no comfortable pews unless first there has developed a comfort pulpit. The pews reflect the pulpit, and when we have fire, again in the pulpit there will be steam in the pew. —Rev. Einar A. Dornell, Evangelist, Kelowna, B.C.

Time To Face Facts

If the western world holds true to its much-voiced belief that democracy serves humanity better than Communism it must soon face up to the fact that it must ready itself to pay more than mere lip service for its cause.

Today democratic institutions are under grave threat in many parts of the world, particularly in Southeast Asia. There, on two fronts—Viet Nam and Malaysia—the forces of Communism are poised and ready to engulf two newly-created and democratic nations.

Though both the United States and Great Britain, with the aid of Australia and New Zealand, are demonstrating their determination to stand by their embattled democratic partners, the remaining nations of the Western world—including Canada—seem content to stand on the sidelines and watch events in the manner of disinterested spectators.

One cannot help but wonder how long these uninvolved watchers can maintain their passive role. If Viet Nam and Malaysia should fall before the Communist hordes there is little doubt that the cause of democracy and the influence of the West would be dangerously shattered throughout the whole of Asia.

In the event of such a disaster it would take no visionary to see Japan, the Philippines and even Australia being selected by the Communists as their next target.

Apart from this, the repercussions of such a victory for Communism would have an immediate effect upon the continent of Africa—already turning more and more away from the West.

Only by containing the present war within its two present theatres can the West hope to avoid a broader conflict. And only by giving massive practical aid to the present victims of Communist aggression can the West hope to do this.

The time for moralizing and soft words is over. The cause of democracy in Southeast Asia can now only be served by quick and decisive action. —Victoria Colonist

Plans For New U.S. Canal May Be "Greatest H-Test"

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. decision to dig a new, sea-level waterway in Central America to replace the Panama Canal may give the world its greatest experiment yet in the peaceful use of nuclear energy.

President Johnson's announcement Dec. 18 put in motion plans for one of this era's most gigantic engineering projects.

Nuclear power might save billions of dollars on a canal between the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans, over construction by conventional explosives and earth-moving machinery.

U.S. officials believe the enterprise, which might take 10 to 15 years for completion, will speed scientific studies to help rid the awesome atom of enough of its radioactive fallout to use it for major excavation work.

Nothing is definite now on whether nuclear energy can be employed within the limitations of the limited test ban treaty, now approved by 108 nations. Nor on the questions of where and when the new canal is to be built.

But hundreds of U.S. government officials, civilian and military, from President Johnson down, now are working on these and other subjects related to the giant undertaking.

LIST MAJOR PROPOSALS

Johnson's proposal is aimed at two major purposes:

1. The construction of a new, sea-level canal, less vulnerable to military attack or enemy sabotage than the present Panama Canal. The present canal is the present canal soon will become inadequate for world commerce.

2. A solution, through the drafting of an entirely new treaty with Panama, of ancient bickerings, disorders and diplomatic headaches. These troubles go back almost to the day the part was signed in 1903 to give to the United States the use of a 10-mile-wide strip, 50 miles across the Isthmus of Panama, for the building, operation and protection of the canal.

The president indicated studies would be made of four possible sites for the new canal—two in Panama, one in Colombia and one in Nicaragua touching or traversing a corner of Costa Rica.

The proposal produced one immediate and extraordinary result. The Johnson plan for negotiation of a completely new treaty with Panama, to remain operative until the new sea-level route is completed, brought official praise in Panama, and from other Latin American countries which generally sympathized with Panama in its controversy with Washington. Widespread praise of U.S. policy from Latin American nations generally is not the usual thing.

PLAN ASSAILED

The Communists, however, assailed the president's proposals. In Cuba, the Johnson plan was termed "just another imperialist trap."

In Cuba, the Johnson plan was termed "just another imperialist trap." Should a site in Panama be chosen, would it mean that Panamanians, in the U.S. view, would behave better in the future than they have in the past?

Would political exploitation of the U.S.-Panama controversy come to an end?

Apparently, U.S. officials feel that the concessions offered by Johnson for a completely new treaty, with elimination of major sore spots for Panama, would improve the atmosphere in Panama toward the United States. The new treaty would be drafted with a view toward eliminating points of dispute.

Latin Americans say the Johnson plan already has pulled the rug from under the political demagogues throughout the area, robbing them of a favorite topic for attacking the U.S.

Every U.S. president in this century has been plagued by turmoil in Panama over the old treaty. The disputes included claims that Panamanians were treated unjustly in wage and working conditions in the U.S. controlled Canal Zone, where 10,000 Panamanians find jobs at higher scales than are possible in their own country, and innumerable other matters.

The troubles began almost from the date in 1903 when President Theodore Roosevelt's government pushed through a treaty with Panama less than a month after Panama, formerly a province of Colombia, proclaimed—with the backing of a U.S. warship—its independence.

Congress has authorized, but not appropriated, $17,000,000 for studies of new canal sites. It also completed legislative action Oct. 7, 1964, authorizing the president to appoint a five-man commission to organize studies on the feasibility of a new canal. Congress appropriated $400,000 for the preliminary work of the commission.

Government officials expect appointment of the commission early in 1965.

As things stand now, the state department is sounding out the governments of Colombia, Costa Rica and Nicaragua on preliminary arrangements for site studies in those countries, and meanwhile carrying forward negotiations with Panama on all aspects of the problems relating to the present treaty.

The possibility of use of nuclear force to help dig the big ditch apparently is receiving careful scrutiny of government officials. The big obstacle just now is that a nuclear explosion of sufficient force to perform major cratering work would cast radioactive fallout beyond the territory of the country where the canal is being dug, says the Atomic Energy Commission.

But some officials believe that by the time the engineering studies for a new waterway are completed—in about four years—nuclear experiments and technology will have advanced to the point where nuclear explosions could be used.

Nuclear explosions casting radioactive debris outside the territorial limits of the nation employing them are forbidden under the test-ban treaty.

But AEC chairman Glenn T. Seaborg has expressed confidence that small-scale tests may be conducted to "develop cratering experiments necessary to develop excavation technology."

Strange Place For Twin's Head

By DR. JOSEPH G. MOLNER

Dear Dr. Molner:

Is there such a thing as a man in the early thirties having a baby's head growing inside his body near the spine?

He has undergone an operation and the story is that parts of his twin were wrapped around the spine, and teeth and long hair were removed but some parts could not be. Is there any truth in this report? —MRS. R.M.S.

This sort of condition is much more common than you might think, but the way it was presented to you is what you might call somewhat over-dramatized. Whether it was "his twin" is a matter of conjecture. Perhaps so, perhaps not.

When a baby begins to form, two special cells merge—ovum and sperm. The resulting cell is microscopically small, yet it contains the chemical pattern (the genes and chromosomes) which determine the characteristics of that person-being-created. That original cell contains the chemical "information" as to whether he will have light or dark hair and eyes, what his features will look like, whether he will be tall or short, and so on.

Likewise in that tiny pattern are the chemical controls which will take the various nutrients and turn them into hair, teeth, bones, brain, eyes, lungs and all the many kinds of tissues which make up the body.

Year by year, more knowledge is being assembled as to how this chemistry works, although the most fundamental mystery of all, the secret of life, remains an enigma. Perhaps it always will.

From time to time Nature gets confused in some manner, and a cyst, or accumulation of tissues, appears in the wrong place. The wonder is that Nature usually is so accurate, rather than that sometimes an error occurs.

Various kinds are known: The heart on the wrong side, six or more fingers on a hand, certain blood vessels reversed in position. One such error is called a pilonidal cyst, near the base of the spine. The "chemical signal" lines got crossed in some way.

So incorrect tissues, usually including hair, and sometimes a rudimentary tooth or two, and other bits of bone and flesh have to be removed surgically. Such is called a dermoid cyst. Sometimes it takes years before such a hidden cyst causes enough trouble to make its presence obvious.

It isn't "a baby's head" growing inside the body. It is a more or less bit-of-mis collection of tissues that started to grow in the wrong place.

NOT MUCH WRONG

One would think that the directors of B.C. Tree Fruits could have found better use for the money they intend to spend in employing a consulting agency, to prove to a minority of growers that there is nothing wrong with the selling agency.

There are no exports anywhere that can produce a better system than the one we now have, and it is doubtful if they will find much wrong with the management.

LOOKING BACK WITH OLD STAGER

Residential Area Opens Up To City

By ART GRAY

A. B. Knox Story—Part II

It was 61 years ago, early in 1904, that Arthur Book Knox sold his farm lands adjoining the original Kelowna townsite. Some of the details were mentioned in the first issue of the Kelowna Clarion, in a story on the Okanagan Fruit and Land Co. This was the most important deal the company had ever handled. The Clarion described it as "an estate of 4,000 acres of the finest lands for orchards and for residential property. Prior to this time the growth of Kelowna had been restricted on the east and the north by the Knox farm, which included everything east of Richter to Bankhead, and north of Gaston Ave. Credit for the deal went to D. W. Sutherland, secretary-treasurer, and F. R. E. DeHart, managing director.

The acquisition of this property more than doubled the area of the townsite of Kelowna, for it included all the area east of Richter St. out to the Pridham and Bankhead orchards, and extended from Mill Creek (and including much of Premier Bennett's present property) northward to the foot of Knox Mountain, and also extended to the lakeshore to include all property north of Bay Avenue.

BIG PRICE

The price he received was $75,000. In May, according to an item in a Vernon News of that month, he sold his cattle to Tom Ellis, for Pat Burns and Co. of Calgary. This mention of Tom Ellis in connection with A. B. Knox is somewhat surprising, for the same Tom Ellis and "A.H." had been involved in two sensational court cases, one of which went against Knox, and the other in his favor.

I had read brief references to the case, and heard stories from old timers, so, after finding that copies of the court records were unobtainable, and copies of the Vernon News and Kamloops Sentinel of the dates needed were also unobtainable at either place, I was successful in getting photostatic copies of the issues I wanted, from the Archives in Victoria.

The whole unfortunate business arose out of the burning of some haystacks on the old Christian farm near Mission Creek, that at that time belonged to Tom Ellis, pioneer rancher of the Penticton district. The story starts in the year 1899, when Ellis bought the Christian property, which was located on both sides of what we now call the Benvenuto road, midway between the present KLO road and the Byrnes road.

NO KLO

At that time there was no KLO road, and no Highway 97, the only road to the lake was the present Byrnes road. There was no Kelowna townsite then, but the road gave access, through Five Bridges to various ranches, including the Knox ranch. Most local ranchers were not too happy about Ellis buying the Christian place, for they felt there was already all the stock the country could support. Ellis had put up the hay, mostly timothy, and had several big stacks on the east side of the road.

CATTLE DRIVE

About the middle of December he drove a herd of cattle up from Penticton, over the Chute Lake trail, to winter them at Okanagan Mission. Again, on Jan. 5, 1891 he drove a second herd up to the Christian Ranch. He stayed overnight at the Christian Ranch, with the Munsons, and early the next morning Munson woke him to tell him that his hay stacks were burning, two of them had been on fire some time, and the third was started later. The hay was completely destroyed.

Ellis, having learned that Knox had been out late the night of the fire, suspected him, and when Knox called to see him a couple of days later and said "Bad luck about the fire," Ellis replied that he didn't call it luck that there was more to it than that, and Knox should know something about the fire, he was out late that night Knox, taken aback, stated he was home by 11 p.m. and knew nothing of the fire until the evening after.

Ellis posted a reward of $250 for information leading to arrest and conviction of the guilty person.

Shortly afterward an American named Henry Bloom, who had been working for Knox, came to Ellis and told him that Knox had offered him a bribe to burn down the hay stacks, and he had refused.

ARSON CHARGE

On the strength of this, and of Joe Barber, another Knox employee, who had a small farm in Winfield, Okanagan, a B. Knox upper ranch, Knox was charged with burning the hay, and tried in County Court, Vernon, on Tuesday and Wednesday, Aug. 11 and 18, 1891.

Ellis was a man of some prominence, a magistrate, and well connected. Conduct of the prosecution was undertaken by the deputy attorney-general of the province, and the superintendent of provincial police, a Mr. Hussey, came to the Okanagan and collected all the evidence of could to support the prosecution.

Knox was defended by a Mr. Campbell of Vancouver, assisted by Mr. Whittaker of Kamloops. The trial took place in the Vernon courthouse, there being no courthouse then, and it proved inadequate to hold the crowd that came to see the trial.

AN ALIBI

Bloom testified that Knox had tried to bribe him to burn the stacks, or sprinkle the hay with strychnine to kill the cattle. Barber provided an alibi for Bloom by declaring that Bloom was with him, on the Knox upper ranch, 15 miles away, when the stacks burned. Chas. Batagano, on oath, supported the evidence of Bloom and Barber, and all three stated that Knox had approached them with offers of money to change their evidence. Frank Bouvette and his wife, F. J. Whittle and Alex McLeellan all swore that all of the three witnesses against Knox had stated they were going to "put up a job on Knox," and collect the reward.

Mr. Dewdney, government agent, spoke highly of the defendant, Knox, and spoke unfavorably of Bloom's character. Ellis, under cross examination, surprisingly admitted that "he would not believe Bloom under oath, if it was a hindrance to him."

In spite of this the judge, after a lengthy summing up, pronounced the prisoner guilty, and sentenced him to three years hard labor.

Next Week: The Second Trial.

FRENCH PRESS LOOKS AT WORLD

English In Quebec "Rejoice"

This is a selection of editorials on current topics, translated from the French-language press of Canada.

Ottawa Le Droit—Concerning primary education in Ontario, much has yet to be done for the French-speaking minority, although the subsidies paid by Premier Robarts' government provide valuable help. But the problem isn't just financial. The current law on education lays down no official guarantees. The result is that there still are many places where school children are numerous enough to warrant establishment of bilingual classes, but where parents have to send their children to an English school or a private school at their own expense.

Then there's the matter of secondary education, with the Ontario school system providing practically nothing for French-speaking students after the 10th grade. Beyond that, at the higher educational levels, the Laurentian University in Sudbury has only two faculties catering to people of French language. The University of Ottawa, with students of all races and creeds, receives government aid for only two faculties because it is not listed as a non-religious institution. In short, the current educational system—in Ontario—lacks logic, coherence and continuity. It suffers from a split personality.

The English minority in Quebec can only rejoice at the treatment they've been getting in that province and they should denounce the unfair treatment doled out to the French in Ontario. . . . As for the English-Canadians, a look at the general picture in Ontario will furnish a reply to the question they're always asking of their French-speaking compatriots: "What do you want exactly?"—Gerard Bernier, (Jan. 20)

Trois-Rivieres Le Nouvelliste—Even before a preliminary report on bilingualism and biculturalism has been received from the Laurendeau-Duntion commission, measures have been taken in Ottawa to promote bilingualism in the civil service and the advancement of French-Canadians to an extent sufficient to reduce the tremendous gap that now exists. The ministers no doubt want things to appear at least a little bit encouraging when the findings of the commission are published.

Numerous courses are being given to senior civil servants and other public employees. A certain accent has been placed on bilingualism, causing some alarm among the customers to settling these problems within the family and not facing competition from French-Canadian candidates. Fears of this kind have been expressed by an NDP Member, Arnold Peters of Timiskaming in Ontario.

Some civil servants who do not speak French, he says, "are beginning to feel up against a wall, especially in Ottawa, now that the stress is placed on bilingualism for advancement." Shocking. What's going on here? If one must know two languages to occupy any job above floor-sweeper, disaster threatens. To be a doorman (a job reserved for French-Canadians), one must know two languages, granted. But when it comes to deputy ministers and department heads (positions long reserved for unilingual Anglo-Saxons), bilingualism shouldn't be pushed too far.

It was fine as a front, a declaration of principles for speeches made in Quebec,

But let's not let the little joke get out of hand. English-speaking civil servants are up against a wall, are they? What do they think French-Canadians have been up against since Confederation and before? That's why they have no more patience. (Jan. 18)

Sherbrooke Le Tribune—We are familiar with government inquiries. But the Quebec government has come up with something new. For the past year, roughly, it has had scholars conducting a secret inquiry which will allow it in June to have an idea of the economic consequences of separatism.

In a nation so gathere could serve other purposes than the government's, of course. But the pain is taken to wrap this inquiry in mystery leads us to take it with a grain of salt, its method striking us as suspect.

It is all very well to say that this inquiry, a "national" one, would perhaps—this is not certain—make Quebec the first province to have information until now the exclusive property of the federal government. There is no real objection to Quebec's having information which would enable her, like Ottawa, to negotiate treaties with other countries. It would even be valuable for Quebec to know in detail whether she is getting more than she is giving Ottawa. But why the mystery?

'Marriage Vows Exchanged At First United Church

The wedding of Fauna Faye Chaffee and David Dunlop Burch took place in the First United Church on January 23 at 2 p.m.

Rev. Dr. E. H. Birdsall officiated at the double-ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Chaffee of Kelowna and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Burch of Kelowna, and during the ceremony the soloist Mrs. Pearl Slater sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "I'll Walk Beside You" accompanied by Dr. Ivan Beadle at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the radiant bride wore a dress of white silver-embroidered tulle with long sleeves, and the full skirt of soft unpressed pleats was worn over a hoop falling into a long flowing train at back. A circlet of matching material held her full elbow-length veil of French illusion net in place, and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses.

Mrs. M. Basline of Kelowna was her sister's matron of honor, Miss Bobby-Ana Burch was bridesmaid, and Helen (Cookie) Niro was the charming young flower girl. They wore similar dresses of peacock blue peau de soie styled with three-quarter length sleeves and bell-shaped over-skirts which were caught at the waistlines with matching bows. Their headresses were circlets of matching material trimmed with French veiling and they carried tear-drop bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums.

Attending the groom were his twin brother Donald Burch of Kelowna and Robert Davies of Oliver. Ushering the guests to their seats were William Burch and Terry Chaffee, both of Kelowna.

At the reception held in the United Church Hall following the wedding, the mother of the bride received wearing a sheath dress of turquoise blue lace over taffeta, accented with pink carnations. The groom's mother who assisted her, chose a pink sheath dress of metallic jersey with a matching hat of pink organza, and her corsage was of pink-tinted white carnations.

The beautiful three tiered wedding cake centering the bride's table was set on pillars, and a red carpet stairway mounting the first two layers of the cake led to a miniature bride and groom standing under a cake topping of three bells, four tall white tapers set at either side of the cake completed the decoration of the table.

The toast to the bride proposed by Art Jones was ably answered by the groom, and the best man proposed the toast to the bridesmaids.

Out of town guests attending the wedding included Mrs. Erwin Kirsch of Wetaskiwin, Alberta; Mrs. Ruby Cork of Lacombe, Alberta; Earl Zentel of Edmonton; Mr. and Mrs. George Savage, Mrs. Carl Svanen, Mr. and Mrs. John

Before leaving on her honeymoon to Alberta, the bride changed into a three-piece suit of teal blue wool complimented with a white hat and gloves and black patent accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Burch will reside at 1221 Centennial Crescent.

ANN LANDERS

Word Of Warning Saves A Marriage

Dear Ann Landers: You saved my marriage. I was actually packing my suitcase when the mailman delivered your letter. Your advice was as follows: "It would be foolish to leave your husband. It sounds as if the man needs to see a doctor. By all means insist that he get a physical checkup."

I showed Howard your letter and he agreed to see our family doctor. I guess he was shocked that I had written to you. Also he was surprised you answered. He said he didn't think you'd bother.

Well, Ann, the doctor gave Howard a series of tests and found out that he was dangerously anemic and had a low grade infection. No wonder the guy was tired and irritable all the time and had no interest in me or anything else.

Now, four weeks later, Howard is like a new man. The shots and pills have done wonder for him. It's almost like being on a honeymoon again and I want to say thank you, thank you—BACK ON THE BEAM.

Dear Beam: People who are not well physically are difficult to live with. It's tough to be cheerful and pleasant when the peepo-meter registers zero.

Irritation and chronic fatigue can be symptoms of illness and should be investigated. I hope others will take a cue from your letter.

Dear Ann Landers: My daughter has gone off to school again—in tears. Sally is eight years old and very sensitive. Her sister, who is 11, refused to walk with her again this morning because she had made plans to walk with a girl friend.

I've tried every way I know to get the 11-year-old to be nice to her younger sister, but it's hopeless. She resents Sally and doesn't want to be bothered with her.

When I see children in the neighborhood who watch after their mother, I wonder if I should have done the same.

Principal Addresses Raymer Avenue PTA

Training students specifically for vocational employment in a business world in which the need for trained personnel is growing rapidly, was the subject of an address by Principal W. H. Brown of the Vocational School.

The address was given to some 50 interested parents attending the January 25 meeting of the Raymer Avenue PTA. Mr. Brown outlined the pre-employment and pre-employment courses taught in the school, the length of classes, grade required for entrance, and the financial assistance given.

A tour of the school followed and the parents were able to watch classes in welding and auto mechanics in operation. Mr. Brown moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Brown. The attendance award was won by Miss Smith's class.

PJs Recall 30's Style

PARIS (Reuters) — The Jeanne Lanvin collection opened at the Paris spring fashion show today with wide-legged printed silk beach pyjamas, reminiscent of the lounging fashions of the 1930s.

Designer Jules Crahay shows them with long unfitted bodices tied on one hip with a floppy bow and worn with jauntily tipped sailor hats. Basic silhouettes at Lanvin have not cast out the "straight and narrow" but give skirts a new lease on life with split seams and flying panels.

Crahay shows these seven-eighths length tunic panels on dresses and suits accompanied by a brief waist-length bolero jacket.

Loose panels are often contrived with deep inverted pleats. They are open at the sides, front and back up to the waistline and swing into movement when the models walk. Newest looking suits feature contrasting patterned fabrics in an identical medley of colors.

Geometrical tartan woolen suits have silk blouses treated with polka dots or small abstract designs.

Crahay carries the tunic theme through into other silhouettes with circular skirts. Underskirts established at the same length as first season neatly cover the knees. Umbrella tunic skirts flaring from the waistline are buttoned onto the underskirt with big buttons spaced between the deep flares around the hemline.

Guides And Brownies Parents' Committee Elects Officers

OKANAGAN MISSION — Officers for 1965 were elected at the annual general meeting of the Okanagan Mission Parents' Committee for the Girl Guides and Brownies, held at the home of Mrs. R. D. Knox, Bluebird Bay Road, with fifteen members present.

Elected for the coming year were: Mrs. R. D. Brown-Clayton, president; Mrs. Howard Morgan, vice-president; Mrs.

W. E. Raikes, secretary; Mrs. John Surtee, treasurer; Mrs. V. Osborne, catering; Mrs. A. Baxter, badge convenor; Mrs. G. Sarsons, uniforms; Mrs. G. Hall, publicity; Mrs. L. Collet, telephoning; Mrs. W. Hackett, cookies; Mrs. W. Jones, Brownies; Mrs. W. Jones, Guides; Mrs. B. Moor, camp convenors; Mrs. D. Hall and Mrs. L. Wright.

A general meeting followed presided over by the new president, Mrs. R. D. Brown-Clayton. There have been no major fund raising efforts for a number of years, and the Group is urgently in need of funds. It was decided by the meeting that an assessment of $2.00 per mother be made to raise funds—this money may be left with Mrs. John Surtee or at Hall Brothers Store. Guides give a great deal of their time and talent to teach Guides and Brownies many worthwhile aspects of Guiding, and it is hoped that the mothers will assist by handing this assessment money in as soon as possible.

Newest French Fashion Fad Is Shopping At Flea Market

PARIS (Reuters) — Newest French fashion source is the flea market, target of bargain hunters located on the outskirts of Paris. The seven acres exist today much as they did in the 17th century when gypsies sold flea-ridden mattresses on the same spot.

This unlikely source has influenced two current fashion revivals, handmade lingerie, long sleeves, and the turn of the century and 1920 "art nouveau" dresses and accessories.

These collector's items are being purchased as fast as dealers can locate and supply them. Six open-air stands are doing unprecedented business in doing up inspired combing jackets, corset covers, petticoats, pantaloons and baby clothes.

Second-hand clothes for men are a standard flea market item, along with antique furniture, china and art objects, broken crockery, scrap iron and plain junk.

The smartly-dressed new clientele of socially prominent Parisians, mannequins and couture designers marks a radical departure from the usual customers whose main concern is to find a cheap and utilitarian garment.

Women are buying the romantic lace-trimmed camisoles and corset covers to wear with suits or casually at home with velvet evening slacks. Hand-embroidered linens and brocade items are piled in corners amidst the traditional disorder of any junk shop.

Petticoats, baby garments, and table cloths are purchased for the value of the embroidery and lace, which dressmakers claim is impossible to duplicate today. Frequently the actual fabric is discolored and worn in places but the trimming can usually be salvaged.

The second craze is for genuine "art nouveau" dresses and accessories. The Countess Maxime de la Falaise recently turned up at a formal Paris party in a beaded sheath that she had purchased at the flea market for less than 50 francs ($10). She wore the dress without alterations.

Shoppers regard the collection of 1920 fashion trademarks including the short beaded "Charleston" dresses, ostrich and cock feather boas, and dangling reticule bags as tenderly as though they were mink coats.

Chain jewelry brooches and chateaux launched by Chanel in the 1920s and still resorted to today as the "Chanel Look" also are at a premium.

LEMONS FROM ITALY More than 57,000 pounds of fresh lemons and 41,000 pounds of mandarin oranges were imported by Canada from Italy in 1963.

Couple Receive Eskimo Daughter As Gift TORONTO (CP) — Mr. and Mrs. John D. Fournoux have a 14-month-old Eskimo daughter given them as a gift by her parents.

Mr. Fournoux is a northern services officer in Povungnituk, Que. In Toronto for a week with the little girl, the couple said she is the youngest of 11 children born to Isa Silvanapik and his wife, Mary Quipiaruk. She has been named Eva Nuvalinga Janice Fournoux.

Mr. and Mrs. Fournoux said as far as they know this is the first time an Eskimo baby has been given to a white couple, and they consider it a great honor. It is not unusual, they said, for one Eskimo couple to give a child to another Eskimo couple to raise.

The red-bearded civil servant and his wife said they would like to adopt Eva legally, but Quebec law makes it unlikely. A child is legally adopted in Quebec only if its parents are dead or insane or if the child is illegitimate.

Eva's family visit her often, Mrs. Fournoux said, and they hope she will grow up able to speak Eskimo as well as English and French.

Eva was painted by Port Credit, Ont., artist Jean Twist when Mrs. Twist visited the northern settlement. The picture was shown with Mrs. Twist's Eskimo collection in Toronto.

Five of Eva's older brothers and sisters have died of tuberculosis.

Indonesia Told To Look Hard At Relationship With Canada

JAKARTA (Reuters) — The Malaysian federation which the Indonesian government has taken a long, hard look at its policy toward Canada, following Ottawa's decision to deliver transport aircraft to Malaysia.

The newspaper says the only conclusion to be drawn is that Canada, Britain, Australia, New Zealand and Malaysia are making a final arrangement for an all-out attack on Indonesia.

It says that to begin with Indonesia should withdraw its students studying in Canada.

Opening lead—king of spades. It is a great source of satisfaction to a declarer to be able to execute endplays guaranteed to save him a crucial trick regardless of how the enemy cards are divided.

There are some endplays, however, that do not completely assure success, even though they do increase the chances of making the contract. These imperfect endplays are not to be spurned, since, under the proper conditions, they can be just as effective as the perfect endplays.

Declarer makes no effort to finesse in diamonds or clubs before attempting the throw-in. If it turns out that West has a trump to exit with, South still has plenty of time to try and salvage what he can in the minor suits. The point is that nothing can be lost by saddling West with the lead at trick four.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW
Fine planetary influences now govern personal relationships. You should have an extremely pleasant day—especially if you cooperate with all and display your most charming self in get-togethers with family and friends.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY
If tomorrow is your birthday, the next 12 months promise a great deal in the way of attainment, both in business and personal matters. Efforts put forth as of now coupled with some unusually good opportunities to advance through influential contacts, should contribute greatly toward the achievement of even the loftiest of goals.

Look for good results from your job and financial efforts during the latter half of April, in May, August and November. Next good cycle along these lines: January, 1968.

Those engaged in artistic pursuits will find the periods between now and November highly inspiring and profitable. Romance, social activities and domestic interests are all high on the favored list, where your private life is concerned—with emphasis on romance in late April, June and August. Be cautious in marital relationships next November, however.

A child born on this day will be endowed with exceptional intelligence but will have to curb a tendency to take on too many responsibilities.

THE DAY AFTER TOMORROW
You should be particularly receptive to the ideas of others on Monday. You may have definite thoughts of your own, but listen to associates and you may be surprised at their practical adaptations of your plans.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY
If tomorrow is your birthday, this year should be outstanding where both career and personal matters are concerned. Your planetary influences indicate that you can gain unusual recognition for past efforts, with commensurate financial advancement, during the latter half of April, all through May, in August, September and November.

Those engaged in artistic pursuits will be generally favored throughout the year.

Look for some stimulating social and romantic experiences in late April, late June and late July. Plans made now for a trip in April, June or August should work out extremely well.

A child born on this day will be romantically ardent, adventurous and emotional.

TOPHAM—In sad and loving memory of a dear husband and father, George H. Topham, who passed away January 31st, 1964. He had no one to say his last farewell. He said good-bye to none. The heavenly gates were opened. A loving voice said, "Come." I often all and think of you. The things you used to say: "I wonder why you had to die without a chance to say good-bye." Though out of sight, you're ever. Still missed, loved, still mine. You will live with me in memory. Until the end of time. —Millie, Barbara, George 151

SHARPLES—In loving remembrance of a dear husband, father, John Sharples, who passed away January 31st, 1960. Time takes away the edge of grief. But memory turns back every leaf. —Always remembered by his wife Ellen and family. 151

Blades' Overtime Win Shocks Smug Buckaroos

VERNON 5 KELLOWNA 3
KAMLOOPS 5 PENTICTON 4

Vernon Blades rapped in a pair of unanswered tallies in the first overtime period to dump the Kelowna Buckaroos 5-3 and take a 1-4 edge in the semi-finals of the Okanagan Junior Hockey League. In the other series Kamloops edged Penticton-Sumnerland 5-4 in overtime at Penticton to take a 2-0 series lead.

Like Coulter got the winning marker midway in the overtime session. Gary Koski added an insurance goal two minutes later, with the Buckaroos one man short. Erang won a short drive over a sprawling Terry Lawrenson was credited with 44 stops and Schuman 43. Both teams appeared to tire in the overtime session with the turning point coming on Coulter's winning goal which seemed to deflect off a Kelowna player.

Bucks battled gamely to pick up the tying counter but an interference penalty to Bullock late in the extra period halted their drive.

Sixteen penalties were called in the game, eight to each team. One was a misconduct to Don McKay of the Blades.

The series switches to Vernon Sunday at 2 p.m. for the second game in the best-of-seven 'B' series.

In a bitterly fought game Kamloops and Penticton-Sumnerland were deadlocked 3-3 at the end of regulation time. Rockets outscored Broncos 2-1 in the overtime period.

Ed Beggs scored two goals for Kamloops, while Ken Russell, Ken Beggs and Ken Rogers added the others. Larry Palano scored three for Broncos, with Ken McInnes getting the other.

No Threat To Existing Marks Except When Girls Hit Track

TORONTO (CP)—Indoor track records easily withstood the assaults of 150 athletes at the Telegram-Maple Leaf International Games here Friday night — except when the girls got going.

Debbie Thompson of Fredrick, Md., pushed Australia's Pam Kilborn to a world indoor record of 63 seconds in the 50-yard hurdles and a Canadian mark of 58 in the 50-yard dash. Bill Crothers of Markham, Ont., thrilled the crowd of 10,617 by taking the 60-yard run with ease, his fifth win in as many starts this month.

Miller Jim Grelle of Los Angeles outkicked Britain's John Whetton in 4:15.2 to cut off Whetton's indoor unbeaten streak at 11 victories.

Judy Amore of Australia jumped from Abby Hoffman of Toronto in the women's 400 in 1:01.1 seconds.

Miss Kilborn shipped one-tenth of a second off her own world hurdling standard when she won the 100-yard dash in 1:15.1, one-tenth of a second off the world indoor record set in 1957 by Isabelle Daniels of the United States. Willy White of Chicago, third, and Marjorie Turner of Liverpool, N.S., fourth, both clocked six seconds.

Crothers, who won the 400 yards in New York Thursday and is out for the 600 yards to night in Boston, finished ahead of Ron Whitley of Southern California Striders. George Kerr of Jamaica was third.

In the 1,000-yard run, John Dunkleberg of the North Carolina Track Club won in 2:15.5. Ergas Legs of Toronto was second in 2:15.7 and Ted Nelson of Southern California Striders third in 2:15.9.

New Zealand's Bill Hallie finished the three-mile run in 13:47.6. Dave Ellis of Toronto was a slim 0.1 three seconds slower and Chris Williamson of Fredericton, N.B., got third place in 13:52.

Tom Robinson of the Bahamas retained his meet title in the 50-yard sprint by a whisker over Mel Pender of the U.S. Army. Both men clocked 5.3 and Vancouver's Harry Jerome was one-tenth of a second behind third.

With two events completed in the women's division the leader was Jeanne Ormelenchuk, a member of the 1960 U.S. Olympic team, with 106,000 points to 100,866 for Doreen McCannell of Winnipeg, a 1964 Canadian team member.

Mrs. Ormelenchuk was second in the 500 metres in 50.9, with Miss McCannell finishing third, and won the 1,500 metres in 2:44.1 while the Canadian skater was second.

Kimberley (CP)—Kimberley Dynamiters took advantage of a double penalty to regain ground, then went on to win 7-4 over Nelson Maple Leafs at Kimberley on Friday night.

Dynamiters lead the Western International Hockey League by four points.

Nelson led the first period 1-0, and added to the lead in the second until two Nelson players were sent to the penalty box in the last 10 seconds of the period. Kimberley added the equalizer.

Kimberley scorers were Les Lalley and Wally Sauter with two each, and rookie Ike Scott, Hugh Hooker and Ken McTeer with singles.

Howie Hornby, Brian Russell, Mike Laughton and Crawford scored once each for Nelson.

Halifax (CP)—Halifax Schooners salvaged a 3-3 tie with the touring West German hockey team Friday night thanks to the goaltending of Don Mason.

Mason kept the Schooners in the game in the third period when the West Germans peppered him with 21 shots with only one of them getting past him.

He said he was blamed by Low Hayman, managing director of the team, for the fact that subscription sales in 1964 to the Argos' games were 1,000 less than in 1963.

TORONTO (CP)—John Walsh, director of promotion and publicity for Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Football League, resigned Friday, saying he did not receive the autonomy he desired in the job.

Mexican Officials Counter Critics Of Olympics' Plans

By NAT GIBSON
MEXICO (Reuters)—Mexico's Olympic organizing committee, heartened by an affirmation of confidence from Avery Brundage, chairman of the International Olympic Committee, will begin a series of meetings here next week to co-ordinate preliminary planning.

Despite concerns expressed in some Olympic circles outside Mexico over scanty information on preparations for 1968, which revived Detroit's slim hope of being asked to step in, observers here see little or no possibility of a Mexican default.

The new government of President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz, which took over Dec. 1, has voiced strong support for the games.

There are also persistent reports that former president Adolfo Lopez Mateos will soon take over as chief of the organizing committee, thus further committing the prestige of the nation.

"We are in a much better position than Japan was at this stage," Col. Ramon Mota Sanchez, a member of the organizing committee, said Friday.

Panagabko's 3 Perks Up Seals

Two milestones marked the Western Hockey League Friday night, both of them in San Francisco where the Seals battered Los Angeles Blades 6-2.

Team captain Ed Panagabko scored his first hat-trick of the season for San Francisco, turning the trick in less than seven minutes, and Gary Dornhoefer scored his first goal since being sent down to the Seals 19 games ago by Boston Bruins of the National League.

In the other game, Portland Buckaroos outlasted Seattle Totems 3-1 in a cliff-hanger that hinged on the outstanding goaltending of Portland's Don Head.

The win left Portland the points ahead of Seattle atop the league standings while the San Francisco victory pulled them into a last-place tie with the Blades.

The other Seals' scorers were Del Topoli and Len Haley while Los Angeles got their goals from Warren Hynes and Gord Vejrava.

In Seattle, Andy Hebertson and Tom McVie scored for Portland with Bob Barlow answering for Seattle.

Canadians Press U.S. Skaters

OCONOMOWOC, Wis. (CP)—United States speed skaters held slender leads over Canadian challengers in both men's and women's events today at the start of the second day of the North American Olympic championships.

Dick Wurster, who won the U.S. title at St. Paul, Minn., last Sunday, won the 1,500 metres only senior men's event on Friday's program, in 2:14.9, over Alfred Bosch of Edmonton, who was timed in 2:25.6.

Under the European-style point system, in which times are reduced to seconds and divided by three, that gave Wurster the overall lead with a low total of 48,300 to 48,533 for Bosch.

With two events completed in the women's division the leader was Jeanne Ormelenchuk, a member of the 1960 U.S. Olympic team, with 106,000 points to 100,866 for Doreen McCannell of Winnipeg, a 1964 Canadian team member.

Mrs. Ormelenchuk was second in the 500 metres in 50.9, with Miss McCannell finishing third, and won the 1,500 metres in 2:44.1 while the Canadian skater was second.
